

"Love Is Always Lovely in the End"

MRS. TOTTENDALE:

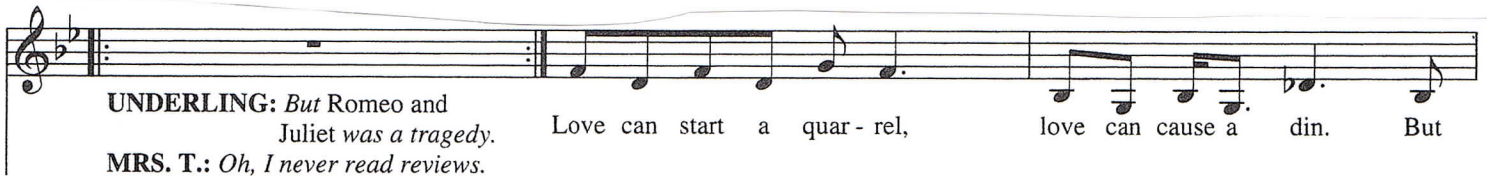

Love makes lov-ers wor-ry, love makes lov-ers fret. But here's a fact on which we can de - pend: just like long a - go ___ when Ro-me-o ___ loved

Ju - li - et, ___ love is al - ways love - ly in the end.

UNDERLING: But Romeo and Juliet was a tragedy.

Love can start a quar - rel, love can cause a din. But

MRS. T.: Oh, I never read reviews.

love has al - ways been a trust - y friend. 'Twas a hap - py fate ___ for Hank the Eight _ and Anne Bo - leyn, _ love is al - ways love - ly in the end.
